

Physicists contribute to major cosmic discovery

WSU physicists played an important role in the first-ever detection of gravitational waves.

Read more

New statistics center to help advance research

From improving the flavor of wine to monitoring dolphin behavior, CISER helps WSU researchers get results.

Read more

Why do we wage war?

Despite terrible costs, groups of people have fought and killed one another for millennia. Can evolutionary science explain why?

Read more

New resource for commercializing research

Entrepreneurial faculty ambassadors advance efforts to translate WSU research into goods and services that benefit the public.

Read more

In Motion: Io Palmer reflects the complex

A variety of processes and materials go into Io Palmer's artistic explorations of complex issues facing our modern society.

Read more

Honors and achievements

Faculty, staff, and graduate students in arts and sciences create and share knowledge across Washington and around the world.

Read more

The business of another language

Adding a foreign language as a second major gives students in any discipline a competitive edge in today's global marketplace.

Read more

Spotlight your book in Crimson Reads

A salute to members of the WSU family who authored or edited a book in 2015 is also a way to foster interdisciplinary collaboration and innovation.

Read more

The Bottom Line: George Lilley, WSU's first president, was a mathematician, and five of the University's nine other presidents to date also earned degrees in disciplines associated with the College of Arts and Sciences: E.A. Bryan, classics; Earnest Holland, English; C. Clement French, chemistry; Glenn Terrell, psychology; and Elson S. Floyd, political science.

February 2016

Grant and fellowship support

The College of Arts and Sciences can help you with every step of the pre-award process.

Coming events

Visiting Writer Series: Justin Torres

Feb. 25

WSU Planetarium: "BIG"

Feb. 26, 28

Festival of Contemporary Art Music

March 3-8

Humanities Fellow Lecture
By Claudia Leeb

March 22

WSU Showcase

March 22-25

CAS in the news

Browse the latest media mentions about the college.

Department news and newsletters
What's happening next door?

CAS Photo galleries
See slideshows of recent events.

Spotlight your success!

Tell the CAS community about your honors, awards, and achievements.

Share it!

See a story you like or other information worth sharing? Use the tools at top left to Tweet it, post it on Facebook, Tumblr, etc., or email it to your friends and colleagues at WSU or wherever they are.

